

35 ↑

2015 rank 36

Rob Moore Schawk

Why In a year in which he completed the Chicago marathon, Moore, the head of SGK Inc's UK business Schawk, oversaw more growth and the relaunch of its Colour Labs operation, heading up the team and expanding the offering that helps ensure colour consistency across substrates. A colleague says he makes sure his team are "continually focused on client engagement, service and growth".

34 ↓

2015 rank 33

Luke Pigott Howard Hunt Group

Why "Unshakeably positive," is one colleague's verdict. Another reckons chief executive Pigott is "constantly inspiring" while a third sums up the dad of two daughters and keen fan of Spurs, fast cars and golf as a "truly brilliant leader". Under his leadership the Dartford company has recently won big-name clients such as Sky and Marks & Spencer and opened new offices in London and Boston, fully justifying all three glowing personal appraisals.

33

New

Jody Ford PhotoBox

Why On taking over as group chief executive this July Jody Ford called for a "stellar" year for PhotoBox, and that's what he got. This November the 41-year-old dad of three proudly announced group revenues up 34% year-on-year. The former eBay wunderkind, who agreed to relocate from California to succeed much-respected Stan Laurent, brims with "leadership credentials, coupled with the passion and global outlook to lead us forward," insists a colleague.

32 →

2015 rank 32

Matt Jolly John Brown Media

Why While the content experts at John Brown Media may have a multi-channel mindset, the business definitely understands the power of print and describes print catalogues as "the number one driver" for enticing customers in-store and online. Production director Matt Jolly, described as "a shrewd operator", brings his renowned technical nous to the group's substantial print spend, helping to deliver multi-award-winning results.

TOP 25 SUPPLIERS

Rank	Name	Company
1	George Thompson	Harrison Scott
2	Ian Kimber	HP Indigo
3	David Hunter	Antalis
4	Gerard Heanue	Heidelberg UK
5	Roger Aust	Close Brothers
6	Andy Cook	FFEI
7	Moya Greene	Royal Mail
8	Dave Allen	Premier Paper Group
9	Keith McMurtrie	Tharstern
10	Peter Jolly	Duplo
11	Mike Holyoake	Xerox UK
12	Tim Cox	Vpress
13	Stephen Palmer	Ricoh
14	Dani Novick	Mercury Search & Selection
15	Wayne Barlow	Canon UK
16	Mike Gee	Denmaur Independent Papers
17	Craig Kermod	Konica Minolta
18	Mark Bristow	Friedheim International
19	David Ward	Hubergroup UK
20	Bryan Godwyn	Intelligent Finishing Systems
21	Joergen Vad	Agfa UK
22	Nicola Bissett	Optimus Group
23	Darren Chard	Kodak
24	Bob Usher	Apex Digital Graphics
25	Kirstie Whitehead	Key Recruitment

Result based on public vote

31 ↓

2015 rank 29

Mark Cruise Sky UK

Why "He's certainly making himself known at the swanky new Sky central office," remarks a colleague of the head of print management with an annual spend of circa £10m. "With the new hot-desking policy, Mark is in his element, winning friends and influencing people." Cruise, a Wing Chun martial arts expert, apparently, is just the man to kick off the full launch of Sky Mobile in 2017 while managing cost, driving efficiencies and perfecting best practice across Europe, insists that colleague.

